The outdoor air gradually bypasses the heat exchanger

The outdoor air is gradually reduced

The unit enters hibernation mode

The unit starts every two hours and monitors the situation

These steps only occur if the effect of the after heating coil is insufficient.